Interchange continues its airport expansion programme with ten-year contract renewal at Gdansk Airport

Prague, 9th November, 2016: The International Interchange Group ('Interchange'), one of the leading foreign exchange providers in the world, and in the Czech Republic, with 40 local branches, is pleased to announce that it has recently signed a ten-year contract extension with Gdansk Airport. The contract requires Interchange to provide foreign exchange and ATM services at this, the third largest airport in Poland, with 4 million passengers passing through its terminals annually.

Interchange has been the sole provider of currency exchange services at the Gdansk Airport since 2012, and currently it operates three branches and ATMs located in the most frequented areas at the T2 terminal.

The news comes fast on the heels of Interchange Poland winning a tender at Wroclaw Airport, where it will be renewing its current lease agreement for another two years starting 1st December, 2016. Wroclaw Airport services approximately 2.5 million passengers annually, and Interchange is the sole foreign exchange operator.

Talking about the Polish news, Marek Nacovsky, the Country Manager of Interchange in the Czech Republic, said

,'We are delighted to hear of Interchange's continued expansion into the Polish airports as this is part of the group's overall airport expansion programme that has included our own successful move into Prague Airport this year, where we now have 11 offices operating throughout Terminals 1 and 2.'

Interchange is one of Poland's main specialised foreign exchange providers, with branches in Katowice, Gdansk and Wroclaw airports, as well as many prime locations in the popular tourist cities right across the country. In the Czech Republic, Interchange is one of the leading providers of foreign exchange services, with 40 currency offices operating throughout the country.

Ends.
